

SRI SHANMUGHA COLLEGE OF ENGINEERING AND TECHNOLOGY

An Autonomous Institution

Affiliated to Anna University, Chennai, Approved by AICTE, New Delhi

Pullipalayam, Morur (Po.), Sankari (Tk.), Salem (Dt.) – 637 304.

Question Bank

Subject Code	GE3751
Subject Name	PRINCIPLES OF MANAGEMENT
Year	IV
Department	CSE, IT & AIDS
Academic Year	2024 - 2025

UNIT I INTRODUCTION TO MANAGEMENT AND ORGANIZATIONS

Q.No	PART A - 10 x 2 = 20 Marks	COx	Kx
1.	How does management contribute to achieving organizational goals?	CO1	K1
2.	How management is considered both a science and an art?	CO1	K2
3.	How do the roles of a manager and an entrepreneur differ in terms of risk-taking?	CO1	K1
4.	How does a top-level manager differ from a middle-level manager?	CO1	K1
5.	How did the Human Relations approach contribute to the evolution of management?	CO1	K2
6.	What does the Contingency Approach emphasize in management?	CO1	K2
7.	How does a partnership differ from a company in terms of ownership?	CO1	K2
8.	How do private sector enterprises differ from public sector enterprises in terms of profit orientation?	CO1	K2
9.	How does organizational culture impact employee behavior?	CO1	K2
10.	Name one current trend in management and explain its impact.	CO1	K1

Q.No	PART B - 10 x 16 = 160 Marks	COx	Kx
1.	You are appointed as a team leader for a project that involves improving efficiency in a manufacturing process. The goal is to reduce production costs while maintaining product quality. In your role as a team leader, do you believe managing this project is more related to a science or an art? With the above scenario prove management is both science and art.	CO1	K3
2.	You have recently been promoted to a managerial position in your department, overseeing a team of five employees. One of your team members consistently misses deadlines and seems disengaged during team meetings. The quality of their work has also been inconsistent. As a new manager, how would you approach the situation with this team member? Discuss the specific managerial roles and skills you would utilize to address their performance issues effectively and foster a positive work environment.	CO1	K3
3.	XYZ Electronics Inc. is a medium-sized company specializing in the production of consumer electronics. Recently, the company has been facing challenges with declining sales and increasing competition from cheaper imports. The management team is considering various strategies to revive growth and improve profitability. Imagine you are a management consultant hired by XYZ Electronics Inc. Based on your understanding of different types of managers, analyze the following scenario: a. Identify and describe two different types of managers who could potentially lead XYZ Electronics Inc. through its current challenges. b. For each type of manager, outline the specific skills and characteristics that would be most beneficial in addressing the company's issues. c. Recommend which type of manager you believe would be most effective in the given situation, providing reasons to support your choice.	CO1	K4
4.	World's First management consultants Fredrick w Taylor quoted, 'The development of a true science of management so that the best method for performing each task could be determined.' Explain his philosophy on four basic principles.	CO1	K3

5. The Coffee Corner is a small café that has been experiencing rapid growth due to its popularity among students and professionals in the area. The owner, Ms. Smith, initially managed all operations herself but now needs to hire a manager to handle day-to-day activities to ensure smooth functioning and maintain customer satisfaction. Imagine you are advising Ms. Smith on hiring a manager for The Coffee Corner. Based on your understanding of managerial roles and skills, address the following:
- Identify and describe two key managerial roles that the new manager should fulfill at The Coffee Corner.
 - For each role identified, explain three specific skills or competencies that are essential for the manager to possess.
 - Suggest how these roles and skills will contribute to improving operations and customer service at The Coffee Corner.
- CO1 K4
6. Jack Smith and Emma Brown are experienced lawyers who have decided to join forces and establish a law firm together. They plan to specialize in corporate law and offer personalized services to their clients. Discuss the key advantages and potential challenges of Jack and Emma forming a partnership rather than operating as sole practitioners. Include considerations such as shared decision-making, liability, and continuity.
- CO1 K3
7. CityConnect Transport Services is a newly established entity tasked with improving public transportation services in a metropolitan city. The city government is exploring options to either operate it as a public sector enterprise or to privatize its management.
- Question:
- Compare and contrast the advantages and disadvantages of operating CityConnect Transport Services as a public sector enterprise versus privatizing its management. Consider factors such as efficiency, accountability, funding sources, service quality, and stakeholder interests.
 - Recommend the most suitable approach for CityConnect Transport Services to provide a profit based service.
- CO1 K3

8. SmartTech Solutions is a multinational technology company known for its innovative products and global market presence. Recently, the company has been navigating various management challenges and trends affecting its operations.

Question:

- a. Discuss how globalization is impacting SmartTech Solutions. Identify two specific challenges and two potential benefits associated with operating in a global market.
- b. Explain the importance of empowerment in enhancing employee motivation and performance at SmartTech Solutions. Provide two examples of how empowering employees can contribute to the company's success.
- c. Evaluate the role of quality and productivity in maintaining SmartTech Solutions' competitive edge.
- d. Discuss the ethical considerations and social responsibilities that SmartTech Solutions should uphold as a global corporate citizen.

C01 K3

9. TechGear Solutions is a small startup specializing in developing wearable technology. The company's management team is interested in staying updated with current trends and addressing emerging issues in management to sustain growth and innovation. Identify one current trend or issue in management that could significantly impact TechGear Solutions.

C01 K4

10. GreenGrowth Consulting is a medium-sized consulting firm specializing in sustainability and environmental management. The firm has been successful in advising clients on green practices but is facing challenges related to remote work and digital transformation.

Question:

- a. Discuss how the trend towards remote work and digital transformation is impacting GreenGrowth Consulting.
- b. Identify two specific challenges and two potential opportunities associated with these trends.

C01 K3

UNIT II PLANNING

Q.No	PART A - 10 x 2 = 20 Marks	COx	Kx
1.	What is the fundamental nature of planning in management?	C02	K1
2.	What is the significance of setting objectives in the planning process?	C02	K2
3.	How do specific objectives differ from general objectives?	C02	K2
4.	How does a SWOT analysis aid in planning?	C02	K2
5.	Name one common technique used for project planning and its purpose.	C02	K1
6.	How does strategic management differ from operational management?	C02	K2
7.	Why is it important to identify planning premises accurately?	C02	K2
8.	What is the role of policies in organizational planning?	C02	K2
9.	Why is evaluating alternatives an important step in decision-making?	C02	K1
10.	Why is it important to review the decision after implementation?	C02	K1
Q.No	PART B - 10 x 16 = 160 Marks	COx	Kx
1.	BrightFuture Charity Foundation is a non-profit organization dedicated to providing education and healthcare services to underprivileged children in rural areas. The foundation has recently received a substantial donation and is considering expanding its programs to reach more communities. Explain why effective planning is crucial for BrightFuture Charity Foundation's expansion efforts.	C02	K3
2.	MegaStar Events Management is a small company specializing in organizing corporate events and conferences. The company has been approached by a large tech corporation to plan and execute their annual conference for over 500 attendees. Outline the step-by-step process MegaStar Events Management should follow to plan and organize the tech corporation's annual conference. Include key activities such as initial consultation, budgeting, venue selection, agenda planning, logistics management, and post-event evaluation.	C02	K4

3. GreenEats Restaurant is a new eco-friendly restaurant opening in a busy downtown area. The restaurant aims to promote sustainability and healthy eating choices while providing a unique dining experience.

Questions:

- a. Develop a strategic plan for GreenEats Restaurant outlining its long-term goals and competitive positioning in the local dining market. Discuss how the restaurant will differentiate itself, target customer segments, and achieve sustainable growth over the next five years.
- b. Create a tactical plan for GreenEats Restaurant to launch its grand opening marketing campaign. Include specific activities such as social media promotions, local partnerships, special events, and discounts. Outline timelines, budget allocation, and expected outcomes for each tactic.
- c. Design an operational plan for GreenEats Restaurant's kitchen operations to ensure efficient food preparation and quality control. Describe staffing requirements, inventory management processes, sanitation protocols, and daily operational routines.
- d. Propose a contingency plan for GreenEats Restaurant to manage disruptions caused by unexpected events, such as severe weather impacting supply chain deliveries or a sudden increase in food costs. Detail alternative suppliers, communication strategies with customers, and financial adjustments to mitigate risks

C02 K3

4. Mahima Solutions is a startup company specializing in eco-friendly technology products. The company's management team is preparing for its first year of operations and wants to establish clear objectives to guide its growth. Identify one specific objective for Mahima Solutions to achieve within its first year of operations.

C02 K3

5. You are a manager at a small retail store and need to decide who will work the evening shift tomorrow. One employee prefers evening shifts, while another has important daytime commitments. How would you decide who to schedule and why?

C02 K4

6. You are responsible for managing inventory at a local bakery. The bakery has run out of a popular bread variety, and you have to decide whether to order more from the supplier immediately or wait until the end of the week. What factors would you consider in making this decision? C02 K4
7. GreenTech Solutions is a startup company specializing in eco-friendly technology products. The company's management team is conducting a strategic analysis to inform its market entry strategy.
Questions:
 - a. Perform a PEST analysis for GreenTech Solutions to assess the external factors impacting its business environment. Identify one key factor under each category (Political, Economic, Social, Technological) that could influence the company's strategic decisions.
 - b. Conduct a SOAR analysis for GreenTech Solutions to identify its internal strengths and opportunities, as well as aspirations and desired results. Discuss how leveraging these factors can help the company achieve its strategic objectives. C02 K4
8. As a manager at a restaurant, you've received customer feedback about slow service during peak hours. You have to decide whether to hire additional staff or implement a new technology solution to improve efficiency. How would you decide which approach to take? C02 K3
9. You are the head of a school's student council responsible for organizing an upcoming event. You have a limited budget and need to decide how to allocate funds between decorations, food, and entertainment. What factors would you consider in distributing the budget? C02 K4
10. Two team members in your department have conflicting ideas about how to complete a project. One prefers a traditional approach, while the other advocates for a more innovative method. How would you decide on the approach to take for the project? C02 K3

UNIT III ORGANISING

Q.No	PART A - 10 x 2 = 20 Marks	COx	Kx
1.	How does an organization benefit from having a clear organizational structure?	C03	K1
2.	Spotlight the merits and demerits of informal organization?	C03	K1
3.	What information does an organization chart typically display?	C03	K2
4.	What is a potential disadvantage of departmentalization by function?	C03	K2
5.	Define delegation of authority.	C03	K1
6.	How does decentralization benefit large scale organizations?	C03	K1
7.	What is the purpose of job enrichment in job design?	C03	K2
8.	How does HRM contribute to organizational success?	C03	K2
9.	What is the difference between recruitment and selection?	C03	K2
10.	What is the role of training and development in employee growth?	C03	K2
Q.No	PART B - 10 x 16 = 160 Marks	COx	Kx
1.	A new e-commerce company, EcoShop, is launching its operations. The company aims to be a leader in sustainable products and wants to ensure that its organizational design aligns with its mission of promoting eco-friendly practices while efficiently managing its resources. Discuss the nature and purpose of organizations like EcoShop, and explain how establishing an effective organizational structure can help the company achieve its mission.	C03	K3
2.	TechConnect, a mid-sized IT company, has been experiencing communication breakdowns between its formal departments and informal social groups within the workplace. Employees have reported that informal networks are often more influential than formal management channels, leading to confusion and inefficiencies. Analyze the impact of both formal and informal organizations on TechConnect's operations.	C03	K3

3. HealthPlus, a large healthcare provider, is in the process of redesigning its organization chart to better reflect its current operations and future growth. The previous chart was outdated and did not clearly show the relationships between new departments and roles. Design an organization chart for HealthPlus that addresses the following:
- The inclusion of new departments and roles.
 - Clear reporting relationships and lines of authority.
 - Integration of new functions and teams.
- Explain how the redesigned chart will benefit the organization in terms of clarity, efficiency, and alignment with its strategic goals. C03 K3
4. GlobalTech, a multinational technology firm, is considering whether to adopt a functional or a matrix organizational structure to manage its diverse operations and projects across different countries. Evaluate the pros and cons of adopting a functional structure versus a matrix structure for GlobalTech. Which structure would be more suitable for managing its international operations and why? Discuss how each structure could impact the company's operations, communication, and project management. C03 K4
5. ManufactureIt, a large manufacturing company, is facing conflicts between line managers and staff specialists over decision-making authority. Line managers feel that staff specialists are overstepping their bounds, while staff specialists believe they are not being utilized effectively. Discuss the concepts of line and staff authority and analyze how conflicts between these roles could impact ManufactureIt. Propose solutions to resolve these conflicts and improve coordination between line and staff managers. How can the company clarify and manage authority to enhance overall efficiency? C03 K4
6. RetailWorld, a large retail chain, is expanding its operations to choose a suitable departmentalization method to handle its growing range of products and services. Suggest different departmentalization methods for RetailWorld. Recommend the most appropriate method for the company and justify your choice based on the company's current and future needs. C03 K4

7. EduTech, an educational technology company, is struggling with low employee morale and slow decision-making due to centralization of authority in top management. Employees feel they lack autonomy and are unable to contribute effectively to decision-making processes. Examine the importance of delegation of authority in EduTech. How can the company improve its delegation practices to enhance employee morale and decision-making speed? Provide a detailed plan for implementing effective delegation and describe the expected benefits for the organization. C03 K4
8. HealthFirst, a healthcare provider, wants to redesign the job roles of its nursing staff to improve job satisfaction and patient care quality. Apply the principles of job design to develop a new job design for the nursing staff at HealthFirst. Consider elements such as task variety, autonomy, and role significance. Explain how the redesigned jobs will benefit both the employees and the organization in terms of performance and satisfaction. C03 K3
9. A company manufactures paper plates and bowls. It produces 1,00,000 plates and bowls each day. Due to a local festival, it got an urgent order of extra 50,000 plates and bowls. Explain the method of recruitment that the company should adopt in the given circumstances to meet the order. C03 K4
10. TechInnovate, a rapidly growing tech firm, needs to revamp its HR practices to support its expansion and improve employee engagement and performance. Develop a comprehensive HR plan for TechInnovate that includes the following
- a. HR Planning
 - b. Recruitment
 - c. Selection
 - d. Training and Development
 - e. Performance Management
 - f. Career Planning and Management
- Explain how these HR practices will support the company's growth and improve overall organizational performance. C03 K3

UNIT IV DIRECTING

Q.No	PART A - 10 x 2 = 20 Marks	COx	Kx
1.	What are the primary factors that influence individual behavior in an organizational setting?	CO4	K1
2.	How does group behavior differ from individual behavior in an organization?	CO4	K1
3.	Define motivation in the context of organizational behavior. How can job rotation be used as a motivational technique?	CO4	K2
4.	Briefly describe Herzberg's Two-Factor Theory.	CO4	K2
5.	What is Maslow's Hierarchy of Needs theory?	CO4	K1
6.	What is job satisfaction? How does job satisfaction impact employee performance?	CO4	K2
7.	Name a key characteristic of transformational leadership. What is the focus of the Situational Leadership Theory?	CO4	K2
8.	Summarize the Contingency Theory of leadership.	CO4	K2
9.	How does communication technology impact organizational communication?	CO4	K2
10.	Why is effective communication crucial for leadership?	CO4	K1
Q.No	PART B - 10 x 16 = 160 Marks	COx	Kx
1.	A startup, InnovateTech, is struggling to keep its employees motivated and engaged. Despite offering competitive salaries and benefits, the team reports feeling undervalued and disengaged. a. Analyze the situation at InnovateTech using Maslow's Hierarchy of Needs, Herzberg's Two-Factor Theory, and Expectancy Theory. Identify which needs or factors might be unmet and explain how this could be impacting employee motivation. b. Suggest a comprehensive motivational strategy for InnovateTech based on the theories analyzed. Include specific techniques or changes that could address the identified issues and enhance employee motivation.	CO4	K3

2. Tech Solutions Ltd. has noticed a decline in job satisfaction among its software developers. The employees find their roles monotonous and unchallenging, leading to decreased productivity.
- a. Evaluate how the principles of job enrichment could be applied to improve job satisfaction among the software developers at Tech Solutions Ltd. Use job enrichment concepts such as task variety, autonomy, and skill development.
 - b. Discuss the potential benefits and challenges of implementing job enrichment strategies in this context. How might these changes impact overall team performance and satisfaction? CO4 K3
3. XYZ Corporation is experiencing conflict between its senior management team and the newly appointed middle managers. The senior management team uses a transformational leadership style, while the middle managers are predominantly transactional.
- a. Assess how the differences in leadership styles between senior management and middle managers might affect team dynamics and organizational effectiveness at XYZ Corporation.
 - b. Recommend strategies for aligning the leadership styles of senior management and middle managers to enhance organizational performance and reduce conflict. CO4 K3
4. At Global Marketing Inc., communication issues have led to project delays and misunderstandings. Employees are experiencing problems with message clarity and feedback processes.
- a. Identify and analyze the potential communication barriers at Global Marketing Inc. that might be causing these issues. Discuss how these barriers could impact project outcomes and team efficiency.
 - b. Propose solutions to overcome these communication barriers. How can IT tools and other strategies be utilized to improve communication effectiveness and ensure clarity in message transmission? CO4 K4

5. Bright Minds Education has implemented a new incentive program to boost staff morale and performance. However, early feedback suggests that the program is not having the desired effect.
- a. Evaluate the effectiveness of the incentive program based on motivational techniques. What could be the reasons for the lack of impact? Consider factors such as the alignment of incentives with employee needs and expectations.
 - b. Recommend adjustments to the incentive program or suggest alternative motivational techniques that could better align with the needs and motivations of the staff.
- CO4 K4
6. GreenTech Innovations has implemented a new leadership development program aimed at improving team effectiveness. Initial feedback indicates mixed results, with some teams thriving under new leadership while others struggle.
- a. Analyze how different leadership styles (e.g., transformational, transactional) might contribute to the varying success rates of the leadership development program.
 - b. Suggest ways to tailor the leadership development program to accommodate different team needs and improve overall effectiveness.
- CO4 K4
7. HealthFirst Hospital has observed a decline in employee performance and job satisfaction among its nursing staff. The management team is unsure about the underlying causes of these issues.
- a. Using job satisfaction theories, analyze the possible reasons for the decline in job satisfaction and performance among the nursing staff. Consider factors such as working conditions, recognition, and job roles.
 - b. Propose strategies to enhance job satisfaction and performance in this context. Include practical examples and discuss how these strategies could be implemented.
- CO4 K4

8. CyberSolutions Inc., a software development company, has faced challenges in managing IT projects due to ineffective communication between project teams and stakeholders. The projects often suffer from scope creep and missed deadlines.
- a. Examine how communication issues could be affecting the success of IT projects at CyberSolutions Inc. Consider aspects such as communication channels, message clarity, and feedback mechanisms.
 - b. Recommend improvements in communication practices and IT tools that could enhance project management and stakeholder engagement.
- C04 K3
9. Dynamic Enterprises is undergoing a major organizational change, including a restructuring of departments and roles. Employees are experiencing uncertainty and resistance due to inadequate communication about the changes.
- a. Analyze the impact of poor communication on employee reactions to organizational change.
 - b. Identify specific barriers and issues that may be contributing to resistance and uncertainty.
 - c. Develop a communication plan to effectively manage the change process and address employee concerns. Include strategies for clear messaging, feedback collection, and stakeholder involvement.
- C04 K4
10. FutureVision Tech is integrating new leadership practices with its motivation strategies to improve employee engagement. While some teams are showing positive results, others remain disengaged despite the changes.
- a. Assess how well the integration of leadership practices with motivational strategies is working at FutureVision Tech. Consider the alignment of leadership styles with motivational techniques and their impact on employee engagement.
 - b. Propose additional measures or modifications to the integration process to ensure that all teams benefit from the new practices.
- C04 K3

UNIT V CONTROLLING

Q.No	PART A - 10 x 2 = 20 Marks	COx	Kx
1.	What is the primary purpose of a control system in management, and what are the basic steps involved in the controlling process?	C05	K1
2.	Define budgetary control and provide an example of a common budgetary control technique used by organizations.	C05	K1
3.	Give an example of a non-budgetary control technique and briefly explain how it is used in management.	C05	K1
4.	How do computers and IT contribute to management control in organizations for effective operations?	C05	K2
5.	What is one common productivity problem in organizations, and how can it be addressed through management practices?	C05	K1
6.	State the relationship between control and performance in an organization.	C05	K1
7.	What is direct control, and provide an example of how it might be applied in a business setting.	C05	K2
8.	Explain preventive control and give an example of how it can be used to avoid problems in a business.	C05	K2
9.	What is the role of reporting in the control process, and what should effective reports include?	C05	K2
10.	List the method for managing productivity problems.	C05	K1
Q.No	PART B - 10 x 16 = 160 Marks	COx	Kx
1.	A mid-sized manufacturing company, PrecisionParts Ltd., has recently implemented a new control system to manage its production processes. Despite this, the company has been facing issues with meeting production targets and ensuring quality standards. The management is concerned about the effectiveness of the new system. Evaluate the effectiveness of the control system at PrecisionParts Ltd. by analyzing the steps involved in the controlling process. Identify any potential gaps in the system and suggest improvements.	C05	K3

2. SmartRetail Inc. has been using a combination of budgetary and non-budgetary control techniques to manage its retail operations. However, recent financial reports show discrepancies in budget adherence and operational performance issues.
- a. Analyze how both budgetary and non-budgetary control techniques might be contributing to the discrepancies and performance issues at SmartRetail Inc.
 - b. Propose a strategy for SmartRetail Inc. to improve its control mechanisms.
 - c. Enumerate the specific examples of budgetary and non-budgetary techniques that could be adjusted or introduced. C05 K3
3. InfoTech Solutions, a software development firm, has recently upgraded its IT systems to include advanced project management software. Despite this, the company still faces challenges with project tracking and resource allocation.
- a. Evaluate how the use of computers and IT could be optimized to improve management control at InfoTech Solutions. Identify any shortcomings in the current IT system and suggest improvements.
 - b. Discuss how the integration of IT tools can enhance control over project performance and resource management.
 - c. Provide examples of specific IT applications and their benefits. C05 K3
4. GreenEnergy Corp., a renewable energy company, has been experiencing a decline in productivity due to inefficiencies in its production processes. The management team is looking for ways to address these issues.
- a. Analyze the productivity problems faced by GreenEnergy Corp. using common productivity metrics and management techniques. Identify potential root causes of the inefficiencies.
 - b. Propose a management strategy to improve productivity at GreenEnergy Corp. Include specific techniques and methods that could address the identified inefficiencies. C05 K4

5. A large retail chain, MegaMart, has implemented various control measures to monitor and enhance its performance. However, recent performance reviews indicate mixed results, with some stores performing well while others lag behind.
- a. Assess the relationship between control measures and performance outcomes at MegaMart. Discuss how control measures might be impacting performance across different stores.
 - b. Recommend strategies to ensure that control measures are effective in improving performance across all stores. Include examples of how controls can be adjusted or enhanced.
- C05 K4
6. Atlas Corp. has adopted both direct and preventive control strategies to manage its operations. While direct controls are effectively ensuring adherence to procedures, preventive controls seem to be less effective in preempting problems.
- a. Evaluate the effectiveness of direct and preventive controls at Atlas Corp. Identify any issues with the preventive control strategies and their impact on operations.
 - b. Suggest improvements to the preventive control strategies at Atlas Corp.
 - c. Showcase specific examples of how these controls can be enhanced to prevent issues more effectively.
- C05 K4
7. PowerGrid Ltd. has faced challenges in its reporting processes, leading to delayed and inaccurate financial reports. This has impacted decision-making and performance evaluations.
- a. Analyze the issues with the reporting processes at PowerGrid Ltd. and how these issues could affect decision-making and performance evaluations.
 - b. Propose solutions to improve the reporting processes at PowerGrid Ltd. Include recommendations for ensuring accuracy and timeliness of reports.
- C05 K3

8. HealthCare Inc. has recently faced budget overruns in several departments, despite having a detailed budgeting process in place. The finance team is tasked with addressing these overruns and improving budget adherence.
- a. Examine the possible reasons for budget overruns at HealthCare Inc. despite the use of budgetary control techniques.
 - b. Recommend improvements to the budgeting process or techniques that could help HealthCare Inc. better adhere to its budget.
- C05 K4
9. A logistics company, FastMove Ltd., is facing operational inefficiencies despite using various non-budgetary control techniques such as performance appraisals and quality audits.
- a. Identify and analyze the limitations of non-budgetary control techniques used by FastMove Ltd. and their impact.
 - b. Suggest alternative or additional non-budgetary control techniques that could improve operational efficiency at FastMove Ltd.
- C05 K4
10. Innovate Manufacturing Inc. is a well-established company in the automotive parts sector, aimed with enhance productivity and improve operational efficiency. Recently, the company has encountered significant productivity issues, including a noticeable drop in output and increased production costs. The management team has identified several potential causes like outdated production techniques, high levels of equipment downtime, and ineffective workforce management.
- a. Analyze the productivity problems faced by Innovate Manufacturing Inc. by identifying and evaluating the key factors contributing to the decline in productivity.
 - b. Propose a comprehensive management strategy to address the productivity problems at Innovate Manufacturing Inc. Justify your recommendations and discuss how they could lead to improved productivity.
- C05 K3