

PwC's 26th Annual Global CEO Survey

Winning today's race while running tomorrow's

 16 January 2023

The 4,410 CEOs from 105 countries who responded to PwC's 26th Annual Global CEO Survey are facing uncontrollable challenges such as the declining global economy and inflation levels not seen in decades. It's a challenging world where leaders need to engage their people like never before to endure the pressures of today's volatile landscape.

Read more...

Featured reports by PwC

Asia Pacific Times: Responding to the new reality

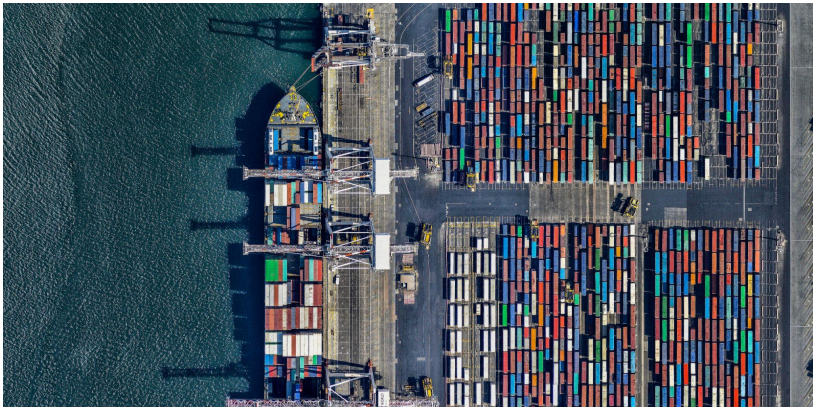

PwC Asia Pacific

 16 November 2022

Businesses in Asia Pacific have proven their resiliency during the COVID-19 outbreak. But it will take more resolve for business leaders in the region to navigate the global headwinds. They must reshape uncertainty into opportunity, complexity into clarity, problems into potential.

Read more...

Click here to read the Thai version

How ONE sailed through a post-merger digital transformation

PwC Singapore

 14 December 2022

When three Japanese shipping lines joined forces in a joint venture to create a new container shipping business, it presented a range of strategic conundrums. Find out how PwC and its alliance partner SAP executed this challenging digital transformation project.

Read more...

Doing business in Thailand 2022

PwC Thailand

 16 November 2022

The guide is designed to advise foreign companies that are looking to invest or conduct business in Thailand by providing an overview of the country’s business landscape, the Eastern Economic Corridor (EEC) and important business taxation information.

Read more...

Workplace tech for the office of the future

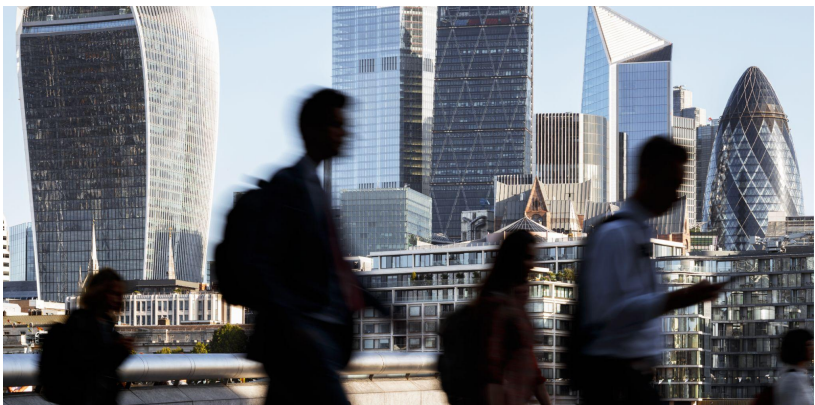

PwC Australia

 30 November 2022

The way people want to work has changed and offices now need to cater to remote and in-person staff. Technology is poised to make work life easier for employees, utilising AI, machine learning, automation and cloud.

Read more...

Financial services

Why financial-services companies should set up their own talent exchanges

s+b, a PwC publication

 20 October 2022

In a dynamic market, banks will have to reduce costs while ensuring they have the talent to continually evolve. Rethinking the approach to talent procurement can help financial institutions save while increasing flexibility.

Read more...

How to prepare your business for Web3

PwC Australia

 16 November 2022

In the business world, Web3 is often touted as the future of the internet. But what is it and why is it important for the future of business? Find out in this article to prepare your business to leap ahead to Web3.

Read more...

Are your investments enabling a just transition?

Embedded finance is changing Thailand’s financial services and banking ecosystem

 9 November 2022

A just transition is not only about rebalancing portfolios for net-zero commitments, it's also about managing the impact on people, the environment and profit.

Read more...

 9 December 2022

'Embedded finance' is disrupting the global banking order. Vilaiporn Taweelappontong, Consulting Leader, PwC Thailand and Financial Services Strategy and Operations Leader, PwC South East Asia Consulting explains how banks can leverage this disruptor into opportunity.

Read more...

Energy, Utilities and Mining (EUM)

Asia Pacific's burning challenge: A just and orderly energy transition

PwC Indonesia

 October 2022

Asia Pacific's vulnerability to climate change has pushed countries in the region to pledge different degrees of commitment to tackle global warming. This is evidence that Asia Pacific territories are finally turning speculation around the environment into action.

Read more...

Closing the green infrastructure gap

PwC UK

 1 November 2022

An analysis of how private finance can contribute to decarbonising infrastructure. Cooperation between private financiers, asset owners and policy-makers, working together to move capital from developed nations to underfinanced markets.

Read more...

Analysing the future cost of green hydrogen

PwC

 2 December 2022

Green hydrogen is emerging as a promising alternative energy source to fossil fuel. It has the potential to power industries and decarbonise the economy. However, there is still uncertainty surrounding the production cost and demand for green hydrogen.

Read more...

Energy at the intersection

PwC in collaboration with the Financial Times

 14 December 2022

Industries are forming a strategic partnership to tackle one of the biggest challenges: how to achieve net-zero commitments and make renewable energy sources affordable for business and commercial uses.

Read more...

Environmental, Social and Governance (ESG)

Four priorities to drive Net Zero transformation

PwC Thailand

 17 October 2022

How can businesses contribute to the reduction of carbon emissions? PwC Thailand's CEO, Chanchai Chaiprasit says it starts with decarbonising business operations and supply chains.

Read more...

Younger workers want training, flexibility, and transparency

s+b, a PwC publication

 31 October 2022

For businesses to thrive, it's vital that leaders understand the changing priorities of the younger generations who represent the future of work, making up the largest segment of the workforce as baby boomers retire.

Read more...

Want to understand climate risk? Start by looking in your pocket

s+b, a PwC publication

 7 November 2022

Climate change not only affect people's lives but also the business ecosystem. This article takes a deep look into the smart phone supply chain and how climate change can potentially impact every level of the value chain.

Read more...

The CEO's ESG dilemma

s+b, a PwC publication

 6 December 2022

Businesses are adopting ESG practices to create new value. But what should companies do about investors who won't accept lower returns? This article helps companies to manage society's expectations and investors' demands.

Read more...

To access our previous issues, please visit the archive here.

Follow us

Your privacy is of utmost importance to us. For more information on how we collect and process your personal information, please see our Privacy Statement.

If you'd like to subscribe or update your contact details, please click here to complete the form. If you wish to be removed from our distribution list, please unsubscribe.

